

Course Co-Director, Lecturer and Researcher in Environmental Planning and Management

(Maternity cover from June 2008 to March 2009)

The Development Planning Unit, University College London is seeking to appoint a full time Lecturer specialised in the field of environmental planning and management to: (a) share the direction of its MSc in Environment and Sustainable Development, (b) jointly run a three-term module on Environmental and Sustainable Development in Practice and (c) run the second part of a module on Urban Environmental Planning and Management in Development. In addition, the successful candidate would be expected to actively contribute to the development of the Unit's research portfolio in the field of environmental studies. For suitably qualified candidates, an appointment can be made within the salary scale range from £36,351 up to £42,907 including London Weighting.

The Development Planning Unit (DPU) is an international centre specialising in academic teaching, practical training, research and consultancy in the field of urban and regional development and planning. It is concerned with promoting sustainable forms of development, understanding rapid urbanisation and encouraging innovation in the policy, planning and management responses to the economic, social and environmental development of cities and regions, especially in Asia, Africa and Latin America.

Further information is available at: <http://www.ucl.ac.uk/dpu>.
